Goldfine Denies His Gifts Were Out of Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer for Bernard Goldfine said today Goldfine charged off as a business expense hotel bills paid for Sherman Adams and the cost of an expensive Oriental rug which Adams has testified was a loan.

Attorney Roger Robb gave this account after a House hearing at which Goldfine read a statement denying there was anything out of line in his relationship with Adams, No. 1 aide to President Eisenhower.

In the statement, Goldfine did not go into the business expense question which some House subcommittee members say can be the most important matter of evidence in their inquiry into relations between Goldfine and Adams.

Even as Goldfine was testifying, reporters sought to learn from President Eisenhower whether he is reconsidering his decision to keep Adams as his No. 1 aide.

Eisenhower refused to say. But, in response to questions, Eisenhower told his news conference the statement he made two weeks ago in which he said he needs Adams expressed his conviction at that time.

Eisenhower noted the House hearings are still going on. He said he would not have any comment at this time in reply to a reporter's question whether he had reconsidered his decision.

Eisenhower labeled as brand new to him the suggestion that Goldfine, in giving expensive favors to Adams, had charged them off as business expenses on his income tax.

Adams has admitted Goldfine paid hotel bills for him, gave him a coat for a coat and loaned him a rug. Adams has said he contacted government agencies in Goldfine's behalf but has denied he used any influence to help his friend in the later's troubles with those agencies.

State Police in Elaborate Plans for 4th

By SY RAMSEY

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police today announced their most ambitious plans in history to cope with Fourth of July holiday traffic with Fourth of July holiday traffic plans and five radar sets.

The radar is a complete surprise. It never has been used before on Arkansas.

"We just got the sets in and the Highway Department didn't have time to put up signs," said Lt. Mack Thompson. "But we're going ahead with the operation."

Thompson said the goal for the 3½-day holiday which begins tomorrow night is a clean slate—no deaths at all.

"And we have hope of accomplishing this," he said.

Last Memorial Day only one person died on state highways although the National Safety Council had predicted four fatalities. Two planes and some unmarked cars were used during that period.

State Police estimated on their own today that six persons would die on Arkansas roads under normal circumstances during the Fourth of July period.

"But we don't want this to be normal," Thompson said. "We're taking unprecedented steps to keep the toll down."

He said most of the planes to be used by state troopers will be borrowed. As many as 14 planes may be in operation at times, he said.

"We could get 25 more planes if we had radio contact," he said. But State Police have only a limited number of 2-way communications for the planes. Motorists will not be able to tell if a plane overhead is a police craft. There are no markings.

"The planes are going to help us out especially on the slow drivers and those passing in no-passing zones," Thompson said.

The radar is designed for speeders.

"Just say we'll use the sets on the busiest highways — practically all over the state," Thompson said.

He mentioned U. S. Highway 70 from Little Rock to Memphis, U.S. 67 throughout Arkansas and U.S. 65 south.

Thompson acknowledged there may be a question of whether it is legal to use radar without posting warning signs.

"But this is a situation where we have to act fast," he said.

Unmarked State Police cars also will be used again, Thompson did not estimate the number.

Harris Commended By Central Committee

In a meeting here today the Hempstead Democratic Central Committee passed a resolution commending Congressman Owen Harris for the work he is doing in connection with the current proposal of "unproper influence" charged against Presidential Secretary Sherman Adams in behalf of a "friend" Bernard Goldfine.

In other action, the committee approved Mr. Burke DeAnna's appeal, committee chairman Richard Arnold also has resigned.

State Bird Builds in Army Truck

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — A mockingbird — the state bird of Arkansas — has exercised its prerogatives by building a nest inside an Army truck here.

Capt. J. W. Simmons, a motor officer, said the nest, with three eggs, was discovered between the water pump and engine head of a truck awaiting replacement of an engine part.

Simmons hasn't decided what to do when the replacement part arrives.

Deadline for Petitions Is Thursday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The deadline for filing petitions for proposed constitutional amendments is midnight tomorrow instead of Saturday.

That was the ruling of the attorney general's office yesterday.

Secretary of State C. G. Hall said he had been told previously by the attorney general's office that the deadline would be Saturday. A member of the attorney general's staff confirmed this.

The new opinion is the result of re-interpretation of state law.

Statutes say that initiated petitions must be filed no less than four months before the general election. On the basis of 120 days this would place the date at July 5.

But by computation of a "calendar month" the date comes up as July 3.

The opinion was asked by Justice of the Peace Harold Bryant of Ashley County for Jim Johnson of Crossett. Johnson is sponsoring a proposed "States' Right Amendment."

Yesterday, petitions seeking repeal of a 51-year-old law specifying the minimum number of crewmen who must operate railroad freight trains in Arkansas was filed with Hall.

Railroad labor unions oppose the move and were expected to counter with two proposals of their own before tomorrow midnight's deadline for submitting initiated measures.

One would give constitutional status to the full crew law, under attack in the petitions filed yesterday. The other would call for passage of a statute to require major railroads to install and maintain safety signals at all public crossings.

Hall said the repeal petitions contained approximately 77,000 signatures. Approximately 40,000 were required to get the proposal on the November general election ballot.

Weisenberger Tells of Reserve Work

Lt. Col. Royce Weisenberger, in talk before the Hope Kiwanis club Tuesday, reviewed a two-week school for reserve officers held last month at Fort Lee, Va., in which 5,000 officers dealt with the problems arising from a simulated atomic war.

Participating at Fort Lee were men from all branches of the armed services each group coordinating their efforts to solve an array of problems. As he neared the end of his talk, Mr. Weisenberger reminded the Kiwanians of the 4th of July observance and requested them to pause and thank God that we live in peace.

Guy Watkins was introduced as a new member and Charles Gough was a guest of the club.

Alderman Dies at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Alderman George Hestand, 51, died at a Pine Bluff hospital today. He was a brother of former Mayor H. R. (Happy) Hestand of Fort Smith.

George Hestand was a physician and was president of the South Arkansas Medical Association.

Survivors include his widow, five sons and three daughters.

Russia Accused of Disrupting Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today accused the Soviet Union of having disrupted diplomatic preparations for a summit conference. He said this "cannot but cast doubt" on Soviet intentions toward a top-level meeting.

His accusation was in a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The communication paralleled similar messages from leaders of Britain and France.

The Western officials told the Soviet leader:

1. They consider a summit meeting desirable if it would provide an opportunity for serious East-West discussion of major problems and for reaching important agreements.

2. Charges by Khrushchev that the Western powers are trying to prevent a summit meeting by proposing unacceptable issues, are unwarranted. Khrushchev made such charges in letters June 11.

The White House made public Eisenhower's letter. Earlier dispatches from Moscow had reported that U.S., British and French messages had been delivered to the Foreign Office by the embassies of the three Western powers.

Khrushchev's June 11 letter provided the basis for Eisenhower's charge that the Soviet government had broken up diplomatic negotiations on a summit conference. Prior to June 11 those preparations had been under way in Moscow for more than a month.

Eisenhower said the Soviet government is apparently unwilling to negotiate seriously on concrete points at issue. He added that in spite of this, the Western powers do not propose to abandon hope or to relax their efforts to seek solutions of the major outstanding problems.

"If the Soviet government is equally serious in pursuing this goal," Eisenhower said, "it will accept the procedural proposal put forward by the Western powers or advance some equally effective and workable alternative."

The procedural proposal was that in meetings between Western ambassadors and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, both sides should have the right to bring up and discuss anything without either side having a veto.

This would permit the Western powers to bring up such issues as Eastern Europe and German unification, to which the Soviet Union violently objects; while the Soviet government would be able to press propositions which the West has frowned on, such as an East-West nonaggression pact.

Khrushchev's letter included a review of proposals the Soviet Union had made for summit conference discussion. The Western powers contended that violated an understanding that the proceedings would be kept quiet.

All members of the American Legion are asked to assemble at the old courthouse building in Washington at 1:15 p.m. on July 4th, wearing Legion edgys to take part in this presentation.

The flag will be received by W. H. Bitter, Mayor, and Mrs. Charles A. Haynes, Chairman of the Washington Community Development Club, on behalf of the town.

U. S. Consuls May Also Be Held by Rebels

By GEORGE KAUFMAN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Lack of word from two U.S. consuls who went into the hills of eastern Cuba to seek release of kidnapped North Americans aroused speculation today that Fidel Castro's rebels might be holding the diplomats also.

The U.S. Embassy in Havana had expected the consuls to return by Tuesday with some report on the 47 Americans and three Canadians seized by rebels in east Cuba since Thursday.

Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, was reported to have made contact with rebels near the town of Moa, where 12 engineers were kidnapped, after going into the hills Sunday morning.

Robert Wiecha, vice consul at Santiago, reportedly entered the back country around Guantanamo Bay Sunday afternoon to seek release of 30 servicemen from the U.S. naval station at Guantanamo.

The rebels also are holding two American managers of a nickel plant and two sugar mill executives, an American and a Canadian, picked up over the weekend, plus four American agricultural experts for United Fruit Co. seized on a raid Monday night.

More than 100 American families live in the Guantanamo Bay area. Roads there are being patrolled and curfews enforced.

Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington that the rebels are trying to blackmail the United States into intervening in Cuba. Dulles said there will be no U.S. intervention and the United States will not pay blackmail for release of the Americans.

Rebels also have been quoted as wanting the United States to stop helping Batista. Washington denies giving such assistance.

The New York Times said today that the U.S. army drove to crush the rebels has collapsed in failure.

Quoting travelers recently in Oriente province, the Times gave this account:

The army controls only the towns and Americans at isolated mines and plantations are usually at the rebels' mercy.

Castro now has up to 20,000 men, mostly supplied with weapons which are flown in to two new airstrips in the Sierra Maestra. The army reportedly is using about 11,000 troops with support from private armies.

The travelers were told that "savagely repressive methods" by the government were sending recruits to Castro's forces but the rebels also have been accused of savagery.

County and District Candidates will start speaking at 8 o'clock. Candidates from Nevada County will be given time to speak as the Nevada County line runs near the Sweet Home Community.

Hon. John L. Wilson of Hope will be master of ceremonies for the candidate speaking.

Proceeds from the chicken supper will go in to the building fund for a club house.

Arkansan Cleared By Lie Detector

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A 22-year-old Mankadake, Ark., farm laborer has been cleared by a lie detector test of any connection with the slaying of a 13-year-old St. Louis area girl five years ago.

Police said Denver Darrell Morris, who twice staged confessions of the crime and then repudiated them, was released yesterday.

Morris, arrested several days ago on a vagrancy charge, carried a newspaper clipping on the mysterious death of Lerora Seller. Her body was found in a river after she had left home to go to a neighborhood movie in a St. Louis suburb.

Authorities quoted an uncle of Morris as saying he had been treated for mental problems.

House Ignores Ike's Plea Against Cutting Money for Foreign Aid

WELL, IT'S A LITTLE LARGER — When Alaska takes her place in the U.S. as the 49th state, she will be the largest state in the union. Figures on the map show a comparison of square miles between Texas and Alaska. The Senate, on a roll call vote of 54 to 20, opened the door for statehood for the huge territory.

Camden May Get Part of Plant Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Camden got a go ahead sign from the federal government yesterday on a acquisition of part of the Shumaker Ordnance Plant, site near Camden.

The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission hailed the news as the first concrete result of its recently launched program to advise cities on how to attract industry.

The way was cleared for Camden to acquire the land—some 4,700 acres—by action of the House Armed Services Committee in Washington.

The committee approved a Navy report which would declare the area surplus. The report already had been approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

William P. Rock, AIDC executive secretary, said the action put Camden in a position to negotiate with several industries which had expressed interest in locating there.

"Now they have the site, and we'll be able to put to the test the commission's contention that planned sites attract industry," Rock said.

He expressed hope that Camden's success would strengthen the AIDC program in other cities.

The AIDC launched a 6-point program about two months ago that featured field-trips by AIDC members to Arkansas cities.

The next step in Camden's quest for the site is for the Navy to certify to the General Services Administration that the acreage is surplus to its needs. The GSA then will advertise for 30 days to determine who is interested in the property. At the end of that time it can negotiate a sale with Camden.

The area is part of the 40,000-acre site of a big World War II ordnance plant which turned out rockets.

Recently it has been operated on a standby basis, employing about 400 workers.

Carnival Worker Is Charged in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Marion Ruth Model, 29-year-old carnival worker who was arrested in Arkansas in connection with the death of her son seven years ago, appeared in the lineup in police headquarters today after being charged with infanticide.

Inspector John Ronayne announced that she had made a statement to the district attorney's office. He did not question her in the lineup.

Police said her son, Valentin, three months old, was found dead in a suitcase June 2, 1951, in an apartment here which she had occupied. The suitcase was wrapped in a blanket.

The woman was arrested last June 12 in Fort Smith, Ark., on a vagrancy charge. Her fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Washington and it developed that she was wanted in New York. Detective James Mullen and Detective Theresa Healy were sent to Arkansas and returned with the woman last night.

Governor in Major Talk Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval Faubus plans a day of campaigning in north Arkansas today and will fly back to Little Rock for a major political speech tonight.

The governor indicated last Saturday in the official opening address of his campaign for a third term that he would have more to say on the integration controversy in the talk tonight.

He mentioned integration only briefly in the initial speech but reaffirmed that he would stick to his stand against "forcible integration" of public schools.

Yesterday, Faubus spent the day at Springdale where he rode in a parade which opening the annual rodeo of the Ozarks, attended at reception at the Springdale Country Club and made a speech.

The governor charged that "outsiders in the labor movement" tried to intimidate a Camden union local which adopted a resolution backing his third term bid.

At the outset of the news conference, Eisenhower announced he wanted to read a statement on the foreign aid money situation.

He proceeded to read it in forceful, emphatic tones. "This was the climax," he said.

"I have this choice: Stand up and be counted, live up to our ideal and purposes, and assume the responsibilities that are ours."

"Or, shrug our shoulders, say that freedom for others has no significance for us, is therefore no responsibility of ours, and so let international communism gain the ultimate victory."

"The choice is clear for me. I stand for American security, to be attained and sustained by cooperation with our friends of the free world. I am certain the American people will demand nothing less."

Eisenhower also dealt with these other matters: Adams—The first question fired at Eisenhower was whether he has any intention of meeting the demands of some Republicans that he fire Sherman Adams, his No. 1 aide, or let Adams resign.

The president replied that the statement he made two weeks ago—that Adams was imprudent in relations with industrialist Bernard Goldfine but nevertheless "needed him" to continue—still is no more and no less than an expression of his (Eisenhower's) convictions as of that time.

Another question touching on the same controversy was whether the President has given any thought or made any inquiry.

Lebanon Rebs Feared Set to Launch Attack

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Camille Chamoun says Lebanese rebels under Syrian command may launch a strong attack on the northern port of Tripoli at any moment.

But if this attack and one from the area southeast of Beirut are beaten completely, the armed rebellion will collapse as a military movement," the pro-Western President said.

He was interviewed Tuesday as government jet fighters, armored cars and artillery turned back an attack from the southeast toward the Beirut International Airport. Chamoun claimed this assault was part of an all-out attempt to capture Beirut and overthrow his government.

The President said Druze tribesmen under Socialist Kamal Jumblatt were trying to link up with rebels under former Premier Saeb Salam who occupy the Basta Mosque quarter of the capital. "I think they have been stopped," the President said.

Fighting without armor or artillery support, the mountaineers reached hill positions five miles from the airport. Government security forces and irregular supporters claimed they inflicted heavy rebel losses in protecting the vital field. It is Lebanon's only base for jet fighters, which have proved invaluable against the rebels, who lack aerial support.

In Tripoli, where riots May 10 opened the rebellion, government artillery was active Tuesday. The rebels said 22 persons were killed, but this figure appeared higher.

Chamoun said he had reports from Tripoli that Syrian officers had taken over military command after rebel leader Rasheed Karami and his top lieutenant, Abdul Magdoud Rafni, had a falling out.

The President added he had conclusive information that the rebels around Tripoli have been promised heavy mortars from Syria with Syrian artillerymen to man them. When these arrive, he continued, an attack may be launched, "but we expect the (government) defense to be very strong."

Chamoun said before asking for a U.N. police force to seal the Lebanese Syrian border, he would give the U.N. observers' group time to size up the aid his government claims the rebels are getting from the United Arab Republic. And he will not ask for U.S. or British intervention so long as Lebanese forces are able to fight successfully, he said.

TOWN TAMER

By FRANK CRUBER

© 1957 by Frank Cruber. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Riley Condor, sworn enemy of Tom Rosser, is trying to drive the latter from Great Plains. Rosser has been hired secretly by the railroad to tame the town, which is run by Condor and other lawless men. Working for Condor is a huge man named Flon who does not carry a gun, but who has crippled men by beating them into insensibility.

CHAPTER XIV

Josh Moody climbed the stairs to the second floor of his hotel and knocked on the door of Room No. 4.

"Tom," he called. "Josh Moody."

The door was opened by Tom Rosser.

"Hello, Josh."

Moody came in and closed the door. "Heard about the ruckus at Condor's."

"Nothing came of it," Rosser said carelessly. "Condor was just trying to show me his strength. Some of it."

Moody nodded thoughtfully. "It was Condor who kept talking about the election. He fixed it. Made me mayor to get me to go along, then elected his pals to the council. Nominally, I'm head of the town government, but they can outvote me on anything any time."

"What's the judge like?"

"Pete Murett," Moody wrinkled his nose in disgust. "All the law he knows he picked up when he served on a jury once back East. And that marshal, Hon-singer."

"I know about him," Rosser hesitated. "What about the sheriff?"

"He's quiet, minds his own business, but I've heard talk that Ken Rud brought him here. Aside from that, I'd say he was a pretty good man," Moody paused. "The boys and I have talked things over. We'd like you on our side."

"What side is that?"

Moody made a small gesture of declared that he would do everything he could to encourage more tourists to come to Arkansas.

One of his platform planks is a vow to create an atmosphere that will cut down the state's population loss through migration.

Scientists, such as Dr. LeRoy Bromley of the University of California, are seeking a method of distillation of sea water to cost 25 to 50 cents per 1,000 gallons. The cheapest commercial process now in use yields 1,000 gallons for about $1.75.

announcement. "The decent element — if we aren't bragging by calling ourselves that. The businessmen. You met some of them last night."

"Josh," Rosser said carefully, "I'm not going to align myself with any side or faction."

"But Condor's your mortal enemy," cried Moody.

Rosser nodded. "And I'm going to kill him one day, if he doesn't kill me first." He shook his head. "I hate Condor and all his kind. I'll fight them whenever and wherever I can — but I'm not going to tie myself down to the Good Government, the Decent Citizen or any other group."

"That wasn't what we had in mind," Moody said stiffly. "Montana has a precedent. . . . Virginia City."

"Vigilantes."

"They were necessary in '04. The way things are shaping up in Great Plains, Virginia City and Adler Gulch will seem like tea parties."

"Hold off your vigilantes," Rosser said soberly. "Hold off until—"

He stopped. Boots pounded the floor outside, then the door was kicked in violently. Johnny Honsinger, gun in hand, stormed into the room.

"Old man," he said, "I warned you not to throw your weight around in this town!"

"What are you talking about?" demanded Rosser.

"Condor's — you were down at Condor's a while ago—"

"Marshall," interrupted Moody. "Wait a minute, I heard what happened at Condor's—"

"So did I. This old boy came in and started knocking people around. That don't go in my town."

"Your town?" demanded Moody.

"I was elected marshal," Honsinger said thinly. "I got no boss. Not even your Mayor."

"I think it's time someone corrected you," Moody said warmly. "We've all of us got bosses. The people."

"The people elected me!"

"They can also throw you out of office. You're responsible to them. Besides — your duties are to enforce the laws, not make them. You can arrest a lawbreaker, but you have to bring him before a court of law."

"All right, then I'm arresting Rosser."

"Don't be a fool, Honsinger," snapped Moody. "Even Condor wouldn't prefer charges against Rosser for what happened in his place. Ask him."

Honsinger hesitated, glowering. "I warned you, old man," he finally said to Rosser. "I don't want you in this town in the first place, but as long as you're here, you'll toe the mark. I ain't afraid of you and your rep don't impress me."

Honsinger glowered again, gave Moody a nasty look and went out. Moody exhaled heavily. "And that's our law-enforcement arm!" He, too, went out.

The giant, Flon, stood outside the Pleasure Palace and saw Rosser come out of the hotel and cross the street to Mary Donley's restaurant. He hitched up his belt and headed for the restaurant.

Rosser was seated at the counter, talking to Mary when Flon came in.

"Well, this is a nice, cozy place," Flon said loudly.

"It was," Mary said coldly, "until you came in. I told you you could take your business elsewhere."

"Oh, sure, I can eat anywhere," Flon said wickedly. "Only I didn't come here to eat."

Rosser wheeled on the stool. "Flon, I warned you the last time."

"Sure," Flon said wickedly. "You're gonna shoot me — even if I haven't got a gun." He reached past Rosser, scooped up a plateful of oatmeal and slammed it into Rosser's face.

Finkbeiner Raps Federal Fund Usage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chris Finkbeiner, who stresses a businessman's approach to state administration his his campaign for governor, yesterday turned a critical eye on Arkansas' attempts to "obtain all federal matching funds possible."

The Little Rock packing executive told audiences at campaign stops in north Arkansas that the state was "marching herself poor."

Arkansas and other states may obtain money for several kinds of projects on a matching basis. The federal government provides funds for highway construction, new hospitals, welfare programs and other projects under the matching plan.

Finkbeiner said:

"We have to do what our state can afford. You'd be surprised at the number of people who have to borrow money to pay their state taxes this year."

The Internal Revenue Service, with a view to obtaining Goldfine's income tax returns, the obvious purpose of that would be to find out whether the millionaire's Boston Industrialist charged off gifts to Adams as business expense items.

Eisenhower replied he has made no such inquiry because it wasn't until this morning that he heard there was any possibility that the Goldfine tax returns might figure in his case.

The President then said that he assumes he will have reports from the Internal Revenue Service. He did not elaborate.

CIVIL RIGHTS — The true cure for civil rights problems rests with each citizen doing his duty as expected and trying to obey law and logic, rather than prejudices and emotions, Eisenhower said.

He made that statement when a reporter referred to Eisenhower's recent conference with four Negro leaders on civil rights problems generally and the school integration controversy specifically.

Eisenhower replied that the conference with the Negroes was on a friendly basis, that they made no extreme proposals to him.

The President then said his own plan calls for the attorney general to execute — within provisions of the Constitution — all duties laid upon him.

BUDGET — Eisenhower expressed hope that if Congress will display what he termed a little more sense in making appropriations, then it may be possible to make some real progress toward balancing the federal budget in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1939.

A newsman had noted predictions the budget for this new fiscal year, which started yesterday, will be out of balance by about 10 billion dollars. The reporter asked about prospects for getting income

Goldfine Denies

House subcommittee about gifts he had received from Adams, he took from his wrist and passed up to Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) a round gold watch, saying it was one of two Adams had given him. Goldfine said he particularly treasured it because of the date—Jan. 20, 1933, Eisenhower's first inauguration day.

And he said Adams would often give him such things as a billfold, a "beautiful Swiss music box," a painting by Mrs. Adams.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Goldfine denied today there was anything out of line in his gift-studded relationship with presidential aide Sherman Adams. He said his family considers it has received more in gifts from the Adams family than it has given.

The 67-year-old Boston Industrialist, long-time friend and patron of Adams, branded as lies charges that Adams swung federal favors to him.

His hospitality and gifts to Adams, resident Eisenhower's principal assistant, were not intended and did not result in special favors from government agencies for his business interests, Goldfine said, and asked:

"Why doesn't somebody write about the things Gov. Adams gave to my family over the years?"

Goldfine came before a House investigating committee with a long prepared statement denying any wrong-doing and hurling a charge that embraced many Congress members that:

"All these expressions of horror about what I asked Mr. Adams to do and what he did are hypocrisy."

But he departed from his statement to elaborate on the point of gifts from the Adams family.

And he pictured fellow Boston millionaire John Fox, his principal accuser, as a sick man who has told many lies "and will tell many more, I am sure."

Goldfine spoke in testimony prepared for a climactic appearance before the House subcommittee whose hearings have rocked Washington and set off a political storm. He said he was dumbfounded that his gifts hurt people in high places.

The Russian-born poor boy, now a textile and real estate mogul, is the third star figure in the inquiry Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) and other subcommittee members served notice the 67-year-old Goldfine was in for stiff grilling, under oath.

Adams was the first of the Big Three on the subcommittee stand two weeks ago. He acknowledged Goldfine paid hotel bills for him and outgo in balance in the fiscal year starting 12 months from now.

Acknowledging the deficit this year is likely to be about 10 billion dollars, Eisenhower called it very difficult to forecast what the situation will be in the next fiscal year.

He said he hopes that the deficits will diminish if Congress shows restraint and if there is adequate recovery from the recession to increase government revenues. But he set up no timetable for achieving budget balance.

Time Running Out on Slayer Earl Leggett Who Nervously Thumbs Through Comic Books

By JOHN H. STARR

TUCKER STATE PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Emmett Earl Leggett fiddled with a comic book twisted his watch strap, ran his fingers through his hair, nervously aware that his supply of borrowed time was running out.

"Of course I haven't given up hope," he said haltingly. "I can't quit hoping."

But the 21-year-old strangulation slayer's hopes of escaping the electric chair were exceedingly slim as he sat, trying to appear relaxed, in his cell on death row here today.

The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday rejected what legal experts termed the final bid to save Leggett's life. It is up to Gov. Orval Faubus now to set a date for the execution which will end Leggett's 2-year stay behind the stark concrete walls and steel bars of the death house.

The tall, pale youth answered questions freely — about his background, his family, his friends, his lengthy imprisonment. But he would not talk about the December, 1935, murder of 14-year-old Joe King of Jacksonville for which he was sentenced to die. And he declined to give his opinion of competency of State Hospital doctors who twice judged him sane.

Leggett's defense at his June, 1936 trial was insanity, but State Hospital doctors testified that he was mentally competent.

The question of his sanity arose last summer to again delay his execution after several avenues of appeal had been exhausted.

A team of psychiatrists from Menninger's Clinic at Topeka, Kan., examined Leggett on death row and found him incompetent. Acting on their report, Faubus ordered another examination by State Hospital doctors. Their findings backed the pre-trial report.

Leggett appeared more pored than bitter as he awaited the final mandate from the governor's office. Faubus has said several times that he will not afford executive clemency for the youth, and Leggett did not know today whether his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leggett, or his attorney, Kenneth Coffelt, would make a final appeal to Faubus.

Faubus was not in his office today and an aide said he did not know when the governor would act in the Leggett case. Presumably Faubus will set a new execution date now that the Supreme Court has refused a rehearing.

Leggett plans to continue the daily routine he has developed over the past two years. He reads six to eight hours a day, sleeps eight to 10 hours, plays a little solitaire. A good deal of the time he sits and thinks.

About what "A lot of things. I don't dwell on anything. I think over the years, gave him a vicarious use and an Oriental rug. But Adams swore that, in contacting federal agencies about Goldfine problems, he pulled no wires to help his benefactor.

about the good things that have happened to me — and about the bad things, too. I don't really try to direct my thoughts."

The death cell is a lonely place, for Leggett and the six other persons interned there. They cannot see each other nor the guard who maintains a post at the end of the corridor. Leggett's only visitors in two years have been his mother and his attorneys.

"I have some friends who wanted to come," he said. "But I told mother to ask them not to. I don't guess there's anyone I care to see right now except mother."

His reading is in news magazines and newspapers mainly. He said his mother brought the comic book but he did not enjoy it much. Leggett courteously declined to have his picture made.

He said his attorney had advised against it. He was wearing a white T-shirt, blue jeans and his chin was covered with a stubble of immature beard.

He did not seem to care one way or the other when the interview ended.

Navigation Plan Slows on Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The process of making the Arkansas River navigable was slowed so that Army Engineers could avoid piecemeal development, Brig. Gen. William Whipple said yesterday.

He told the Arkansas Basin Development Association's board that development of the Missouri River Basin had been on a sporadic basis.

The first effort ended in a wash-out, he said. The next try was a depression antidote in the 1930s. Now the basin is undergoing its third

Braves Get Help From Dodgers, Extend Lead

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Are the Milwaukee Braves back in the groove now that they've managed to beat Los Angeles? Or is that 3 1/2-game National League lead only a momentary margin while they have their hands on the Cincinnati Reds, their favorite pasties?

Father way, nobody but the champs has been that far ahead, and the Braves made it for only the second time on a shutout by Lew Burdette and a home run by Eddie Mathews that beat Cincinnati 1-0 Tuesday night. That gave Milwaukee a four-game streak since ending a nine-game losing jinx with two victories last week-end.

The Dodgers contributed to Milwaukee's lead with a 9-3 victory over second-place St. Louis, and the Chicago Cubs knocked off third-place San Francisco 9-5. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 4-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees split a two-night affair at Baltimore, winning 2-1 after a 7-5 defeat. Kansas City rapped Detroit 5-1. Boston beat Washington 10-5 with Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen each hitting two-run homers. The Chicago White Sox defeated Cleveland 5-4 in 11 innings.

Burdette gave up eight singles, walked but one and struck out two.

Rookie Norm Larker hit a pair of home runs, his first in the majors, also doubled and drove in four runs for the Dodgers, who had lost three in a row. Jim Brosnan (7-6) lost it while southpaw Sandy Koufax (7-3) won his fourth in a row.

Young Moe Drabowsky (7-7) won his third in a row for the Cubs, although needing relief. Rookie Tony Taylor and Ernie Banks each rapped a pair of solo homers for the Cubs, who chased Johnny Antonelli (8-0) in the second and jumped past Cincinnati into fourth place. Daryl Spencer, Willie Mays, Ray Jablonski and Bob Schmidt homered for the Giants.

Harry Anderson drove in three runs with his 10th homer and a single for the Phils, who moved to sixth place as the Pirates hit seventh in a 10-day skid from third. Rookie Ray Semprich won his ninth with an eight-hitter. Bob Friend (9-9) lost his fifth in a row. R. G. Smith, Bob Porterfield and Elroy Face pitched perfect relief over the last 6 2/3 innings.

U.S. Demands Release of Americans

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. today asked the Soviet Foreign Ministry for the immediate release of nine American airmen forced down inside Soviet Armenia.

Thompson was ordered from Washington to transmit his government's denial of Soviet charges that the plane, an unarmed DC-62, Air Force transport, had deliberately trespassed into the Soviet air space. The U. S. Defense Department suggested that the aircraft was flying above an over-cast on instruments and strayed off course.

The ambassador also was expected to request that embassy representatives be permitted to visit the detained airmen.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Death snatched three lives from the hands of would-be rescuers in Ohio over the weekend. In another accident, the rescue was successful.

Philly First Baseman Back in Baseball

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ed Bouchee, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman who was restored to baseball by Commissioner Ford Frick, joins his teammates here today.

He will start against the Braves in Milwaukee Thursday.

The four-game Milwaukee series may prove the testing ground for Bouchee's comeback in the game, he says will provide the best therapy of all.

"This was a medical case," Phils Manager Mayo Smith said. "Bouchee is evidently cured and we are happy to have him back. I'll start him at first base Thursday at Milwaukee. He has been working out regularly in Philadelphia and probably will give our club a lift."

Under indefinite suspension since he pleaded guilty to a morals charge in Spokane, Wash., Feb. 20, the 25-year-old Bouchee was given another chance when Frick, at a news conference in New York, announced the reinstatement.

"It was the only decision I could live with," Frick said. "I have made an exhaustive study of all the evidence, and I am convinced that Bouchee is completely cured. All the doctors and the probation officers who have been assigned to this case have recommended his return to baseball. I am assuming sole and complete responsibility."

A little over three months after the offense, Bouchee was placed on three years probation by a judge in Spokane. A psychiatrist testified that he suffered from compulsive exhibitionism, an aberration resulting from emotional illness. His offense was indecent exposure involving two young girls.

Bouchee has been working out at Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia, since June 4 after undergoing psychiatric treatment for three months at the Institute for Living in Hartford, Conn.

"I'll be happy to be back with the boys," Bouchee said upon hearing the news. "No one can know how happy."

Song Name Changed to Big Alaska

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Alaska became the 49th state, song writers Sammy Fain and Paul Francis Webster began re-writing one of the key songs for the forthcoming film "Mardi Gras."

When only six feet from his son, the trapeze artist and killed the boy, knocking the body into the father's outstretched arms.

At Cincinnati, a 4-year-old boy saw his 3-year-old brother leaning out of a second-story window. The older child got there in time to save his brother's life—but he himself fell to his death.

In Ottawa County, near the mouth of the Trossard River, a man and a woman anchored their 16-foot outboard boat and went swimming. The boat started to drift away. They tried to get back. The woman started to go under. Her companion held her head above water, but she slipped from his grasp and drowned. He was saved when help arrived from an other boat.

The original title was "Bigger Than Texas." They have changed it to "Bigger Than Alaska." But the song writers admit a rhyming problem.

Williams, Jensen Going Good for Red Sox

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been Mantle and Berra for the New York Yankees; Kaline and Kneisler for Detroit. But Boston has the Boom-Boom boys of the moment, with Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen crashing nine homers and driving in 20 runs between them in the Red Sox' last two games.

The Big City and Jensen, who is closing in on his best slugging season in the majors after taking the American League home run lead with 14 in June, each smacked two-run shots that powered the Red Sox to a 10-5 victory over Washington Tuesday night.

It was Jensen's 24th of the year, a by of his 1953 high of 26, and fifth in four games for a total of 11 RBI. Williams, the most enduring 30-year-old since Jack Benny went spare and turned 40, hammered his 12th home run, added two singles and picked up a third RBI as the Red Sox won their third in a row with a 4-1 record.

That put third place Boston within nine games of the leading Yankees, who split a two-night pair at Baltimore, winning 2-1 after a 7-5 loss. Kansas City stayed a half game ahead of Boston with a 5-1 victory at Detroit. Chicago defeated Cleveland 5-4 in 11 innings after the Indians had chased White Sox ace Billy Pierce.

In the National League, Milwaukee regained a 2 1/2-game lead, beating Cincinnati on Lew Burdette's eight-hitter while Los Angeles knocked off second place St. Louis 9-3 and the Chicago Cubs whipped third place San Francisco 9-4. Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 4-2.

Williams, the defending AL bat champ, busted past 300 for the first time this season, hitting .308, while whalloping his 400-foot homer in a three-run third inning against loser Hal Griggs (3-5). Jensen smacked his in a three-run sixth off Chuck Stobbs for his 1,000th hit in nine major league seasons.

Reformed reliever Delock won his 10th in a row, sixth of the year, with an eight-hitter, one Norm Zaichin's eighth homer.

Bad Boy Billy Loos, who had lost seven straight, won his first in relief when Baltimore overhauled a Yankee lead with five in the fifth. Billy Gardner's three-run triple capped it against losing reliever Duke Maas (4-7). Don Larsen (7-1) homered for a 1-1 tie, then won the nightcap on Mickey Mantle's 10th home run, second of the night, in the eighth inning off Jack Harshman (6-7). Gene Woodling, 6-for-8 in the pair, homered for the Birds.

Bob Cerv's 21st home run got the A's started and they clinched Ned Garver's eighth victory, first in a month, in the sixth on two-run singles by Hector Lopez and Harry Chit. Frank Lary lost his sixth. Garver allowed only five hits, three by Ozzie Virgil, and lost his shutout in the eighth on Bob Mazie's first AL home run.

Sherm Lollar, whose three-run homer gave Chicago a 4-0 lead in the sixth, singled home the winner off losing reliever Mudgett Grant (6-5). Flore, who had a near-perfect game Friday, stretched his shutout string to 33 innings longest in the majors this year—before the Tribe scored an unearned run in the seventh. Lary Doby, late of the Sox, tied it with a pinch-hit, three-run homer in the eighth off Jerry Staley. Ealy Wynn (8-6) won it.

Ned Garver Is Making a Comeback

DETROIT (AP)—Making your comeback of the Year awards early Don't overlook Ned Garver.

When people ask and they are asking, "What's keeping those Kansas City Athletics up there?" one of the biggest answers is the crafty right-hander who has surprised even himself with eight victories in 12 decisions.

The 33-year-old breaking ball artist whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-1 Tuesday night. He missed his fourth shutout by the margin of a pinch hitter Bob Mazie's eighth-inning home run.

The Tigers thought Garver was washed up in the winter of 1956 and traded him to the Athletics in an eight-player deal that has backfired. The four players dealt off by the A's never panned out in Detroit and the Tigers have disposed of all of them.

Garver, who had a 9-2 record while working in just six games for the Tigers in 1956, admitted he pleaded with the Tigers front office not to trade him.

"I told them I'd play for less money," he said. "I told them I just wanted to play out the rest of my days in Detroit. When they traded me, I thought they figured I was washed up and I guess I got to thinking that way too."

Rocket Crashes in Drive-in Theater

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A skyrocket trailing orange sparks crashed into Kansas City's outdoor Starlight Theater Monday night. None of the 3,500 patrons was hurt.

The skyrocket hit an empty seat.

Richard H. Berger, head of the theater's production staff, said the rocket was a non-explosive firework, and caused no damage.

"It sure looked like it," said W. Wayne Barnes, holder of the box where the rocket landed. "We weren't shaken up much but a girl behind us began shouting to an us that the place was on fire. She thought it a real catastrophe had occurred."

Patrons didn't become excited, Berger said. On stage, the performers didn't drop a line of "Rosolinda," which opened a week's run at the 7,000-seat theater Monday night.

Police said the skyrocket apparently was fired from a slope behind the theater in Swope Park.

Brown's Case Is Delayed by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The murder case against Willie (Bob) Brown was passed in Municipal Court today because a first degree murder charge against him has been filed in Circuit Court.

Brown, 37, is the father of Minnijean Brown, a Negro student expelled last term from Central High School.

Prosecutor Frank Holt said Brown is accused of shooting Elmer Isaac, a 38-year-old Negro, last week in front of a Negro club here. Isaac died from three bullet wounds.

Deputy Prosecutor John T. Jernigan said Brown claimed self defense but that witnesses' statements differed from Brown's version.

Brown's bond was raised from $2,000 to $5,000. A hearing in the higher court has not been set yet.

Hendrix-Andrews

Vows Exchanged
In a ceremony performed at three o'clock Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Church of Prescott, Miss Carolyn Sue Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Andrews of Prescott, became the bride of Robert Dewey Hendrix Jr., son of Mrs. Marie C. Hendrix of Hope and Robert Dewey Hendrix of Little Rock. The Reverend Alfred DeBlack performed the impressive double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with floor baskets of white gladioli, pink carnations and fern and seven branched candelabra that held white tapers. Garlands of Smilax entwined the chancel and choir rail. Candle lighters were Miss Carole Shirley and Skip Shirley of Texarkana, niece and nephew of the bridegroom.
Mrs. Vera Johnson, organist presented a program of nuptial music consisting of "I Walk Alone," "I Love You Truly" and the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied, Joe T. Smith, soloist, who sang "I Love Thee Truly" and "Golden Promise."
The bride, escorted by her father, was radiant in her floor length sheath bridal gown of white satin with a fitted bodice and scalloped neckline. The long sleeves tapered to tiny points at the wrists. The skirt was fashioned with a princess front and featured a bustle in the back from which satin roses extended on to the chapel train. Her shoulder length illusion veil was attached to a charmingly lace Juliet cap encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a cascade of pink rose buds. Lines of the valley and white tulle from which fell a shower of white satin ribbon tied with pearl hearts.

Her only ornament was a strand of pearls a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Lydia Rossilo of Houston, Texas, maid of honor and bridesmaids Miss Sheila Jean Morman of Rosston, Miss Rochelle Genetel of Waldo and Miss Daria Becker of Dallas, Texas were identical waltz length taffeta sheath dresses with emmerbands and panels in the back extending from the waist to the hemline in shades of mauve to light pink. Their circular head veils and colonial bouquets of daisies matched their dresses.
The flower girl, Little Miss Rose Neimeyer, wore a fully dress of pink and white embroidered organza and a pink bandana. She carried a white basket from which she scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.
The ring bearer, Johnny Coe, carried the rings on a satin pillow. O. T. Cranford of Hope served as bestman. Groomsmen were Ralph Saunders and Cecil Delaney of Hope. Bobby Woosley of Prescott was usher and David Hendrix of Hope, brother of the bridegroom, was head usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Andrews chose a sheath dress of mauve lace, a matching hat and white accessories and wore a single orchid of cream with a rose throat. Mrs. Hendrix, mother of the groom, wore a dress of light blue pure silk, a white hat beaded with pearls and white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.
Following the church rites, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews entertained with a reception in the church parlor. Baskets of white gladioli and pink carnations were placed at vantage points. Miss Nancy Gulley greeted the guests. Receiving were Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Hendrix, the bride and groom and her attendants. Miss Becky Sommers of Magnolia was in charge of the guest book. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Mildred Buchanan. Piano music was played by Mrs. Arvin Jones.

The bride's table covered with a white organza cloth over white taffeta and over draped with net caught at the corner with white bells and satin bows and decorated with a centerpiece of pink daisies in a crystal bowl flanked by white candles in matching holders, held the four-tiered pink wedding cake embossed with pink sugar bells and topped with a miniature bride and groom. White individual cakes embossed with pink rose buds were served by Mrs. Lloyd McCracken of El Dorado and Mrs. Cecil Delaney of Hope. Miss Polly Ann Sherman presided at the punch bowl. Other assisting were Mrs. O. T. Cranford of Hope and Misses Ellen and Kathy Rettig.

For travel the bride wore a beige linen suit with yellow accessories and pinned a corsage of yellow daisies at her shoulder. After a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and Panama City, Florida, they will make their home in Hope where Mr. Hendrix is in business.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Harry Hawthorne, Mrs. Hershel Cox, Miss Nancy Hawthorne, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Weisenberger, Mrs. Lester Hutchins Jr., Miss Judy Lewis, Miss Emogene Fuller, Miss Bess Evans, Mr. and Mrs. J. ## Delay Rapped by Negro Counsel

NEW ORLEANS (AP) A P. Tureaud of New Orleans, counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said last night the delay in integration at Little Rock was a "tremendous block in the desegregation of public schools throughout the South."

Tureaud referred to the Supreme Court's refusal to review a district court's action in putting off integration of Little Rock's Central High School another 2½ years.

He told a local NAACP branch meeting, "If a decision like Little Rock can stand, we will have no desegregation in public schools in your or my lifetime."

A. L. Chaplain Sr., local president, said the meeting was called at the request of NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins to protest the suspension order.

Resolutions passed by the group included one to President Eisenhower asking "assistance in the enforcement of the decision of the Supreme Court outlawing segregation in public schools and in the improvement of race relations by using every resource and legal process available to him."

In six high schools and 44 grade schools in France, classes are now maintained for children of U. S. Army personnel. American high school graduates go on to study in French universities.
